

The illustration features three main elements: a detailed drawing of a human eye on the left, a schematic cross-section of the eye in the upper right, and a vertical slit lamp on the right. Thin lines radiate from the eye and the slit lamp, suggesting light rays or focus. The entire illustration is rendered in white and black lines on a red background.

OCULAR SYNDROMES

Walter J. Geeraets

SECOND EDITION